This type of publication is every thing and helped me seeking ahead and much more. It usually fails to charge too much. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

J. Res, 52 April 23, 1996 The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 10:08 a.m., in room SD-226, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Hon. Orrin G. Hatch (chairman of the committee), presiding. Also present: Senators Grassley, Brown, Kyi, Leahy, and Feinstein. Opening Statement Of Hon. Orrin G. Hatch, A U.S. Senator From The State Of Utah The Chairman. We are happy to welcome all of you to the Judiciary Committee here today. Today, the committee is convened to take testimony on a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States that would adopt into our fundamental law the following proposition: The interests of the victims of crime are entitled to the same respect as the interests of those charged with crime. That goal is as worthy of our consideration - indeed, it is as noble as any goal that the Congress could strive to accomplish. After all, only a victim can truly understand the pain that crime causes. It is the victim more than anyone else who is cheated or robbed or assaulted. It is the victim whose wounds must be healed and it is the victim above all else who is most deserving of our efforts to eliminate the violence that plagues our communities. We and all other responsible Government officials should do our utmost to ensure that the criminal justice system serves the interests of victims as well as the public generally. To ensure that the criminal justice system treats crime victims...
