Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Manuscripts of J. Eliot Hodgkin, Esq. F. S. A, Vol. 2: Of Richmond, Surrey This collection of papers belongs to the class usually spoken of as made collections by connoisseurs of historical archives, in contradistinction to the accumulations of manuscripts that have slowly proceeded during successive centuries from the correspondence and business transactions of historic families or ancient corporations. Resembling all other similar collections, in that its multifarious evidences lack the particular continuity that contributes so largely to the enjoyment with which a student examines the muniments of an ancient family or corporate body, Mr. Hodgkin s assemblage of documents is also characterised by the piquant and animating diversity that is one of the usual and peculiar qualities of made collections. In other respects it merits commendation. The proportion of valueless matter is small, and its multifarious treasures have been annotated with much learning and literary address by their owner, who knows thoroughly the manuscripts in which he delights, and has illustrated most of them with explanatory comments. With the single exception...
